

Supplementary Figure 6 | Illustration of different types of errors during cell tracking used for evaluation. False positive (FP), false negative (FN), identity switch (IS), false positive division (FP-D) and false negative division (FN-D). Red and blue circles indicate ground truth tracks and reconstructed tracks, respectively. Blue lines represent edges correctly matched between the ground truth and reconstructed track, while dashed lines highlight redundant error tracks.